Mexico City, Feb. 20.—Felix Diaz will enter the race for presidency.

Probably General Huerta will not run against him. One reason why Diaz made no effort to obtain the provisional presidency for himself was his wish to be entirely free to organize and direct his party in the coming

The fate of Prancisco Madero is to be left in the hands of the new cabinet and will doubtless be decided to-night. The ex-president is now the personal prisoner of Gen, Huerta who refuses to accept the -- responsibilityof his disposition.

The fate of Francisco I. Madero, the deposed president of Mexico, was still in the balance this morning. Preparations had been made at midnight for his departure with the members of his family into exile, but these were suddenly halted by mysterious orders from General Huerta. The expresident, therefore, at daybreak was still in the capitol. Senora Madero and the ex-president's two sisters and his aged father, together with the family or former Vice PresidentSuarez, waited at the stated time, ready to depart for Vera Cruz and thence to Europe, but at the hour which had

She and her party then left the railway station and went back to the city.

Only the most optimistic residents of the Mexican capitol pretend to be-dieve that the substitution of General Huerta for Francisco Madero will result in the restoration of complete peace throughout the republic. It remains to be seen how many of the rebel leaders will accept the invitation_extended to them by Huerta to join in an effort to restore normal conditions.

The new administration will temporize with any of the rebels, declares that all that is possible be done to effect a reconcilation, bu in the event of failure in this direc-tion it proposes to wage vigorous warfare. Already federal troops have been sent to Cuernavaca to prevent the occupation of that city by Zapata. The new government has been proclaimed officially in every state of the republic. Practically all the govern-ors and the military commanders ave telegraphed General Huerta declaring their allegiance to him.

After the manner of newly installed governments that of General Huerta began with the liberation of political prisoners, Proclamation of a general amnesty is expected at any moment. Three hundred political prisoners have been capped by promises made by remaining the capped by promises made by remaining the capped by promises made by remaining the capped by promises a business administration, promises a business administration, promises a business administration, promises while from Vera Cruz are to be brought those who were imprisoned with Felix Diaz in the castle of San are the failure of the Juan de Ulua after the failure of the Diaz revolt in that city.

Only three of those Generals Blanquet and arrested by Generals Blanquet and Huerta ut the moment of the overthrow of Madera remain in custody. These are Francisco Madero himself, Jose Pino Suarez, the ex-vice president and Gomzales Garza, ex-governor of the federal district and who incurred wide spread emity owing to his close affi-fation with "la Pora," the political group directed by Gustavo Madero. Felix Diaz today denied responsibility for the execution of Gustavo Madero and Adolfo Basso, superin-tendent of the national palace. The official report on the death of Gusta-

"He was being removed from one nart of the arsenal to another when he made a dash for liberty. The officers in charge fired at him and killed him." Adolfo Basso, an old man, was kill-

Regarding Madero. It was said that the ex-president was to be deported from Vera Cruzi and that this exile was to be a substitute for a trial for the murder of Colonel Riverol, whom he accused of national palace. The formal accusation was made against him by Attor-ney Carlos Salinas before the attorgeneral of the republic, and it was declared that the charge was to be left pending should he attempt to return to the republic. The cabinet at first agreed upon by lauerta and Diaz was confirmed in all respects except in connection with the ministry of finance, in which Esquivalobregon was substituted for Carlos G. De Cosio. The names for the port-folio were suggested partly by Diaz and partly by Huerta.

Question of Stability.
The stability of the new govern-mient in Mexico, in the opinion of offi-cials here, will depend entirely upon the extent to which Huerta and his leaders are willing to recognize the directing powers of the Mexican congress. Consequently they are waiting with interest the hourly develop-ment. So far as the record goes the forms of the Mexican constitution appear to have been observed in the perfunctory elevation of the minister of foreign affairs to the presidential office for an hour or two before his replacement by a provisional president chosen by the congress.

The real test is looked for in the provision for the holding of public elections and the willingness of the defacto government to surrender controi to the officers chosen by the peo-

THE EVOLUTION OF

THE : MODERN STORE

Did you ever stop to think of the wonderful development of the store of today?

Years ago the store was a place where you traced or entered only when it was necessary. It was not considered necessary or even an advantage to make it a pleasant place for

Modern storekeepers realize that the arrangement and sur-roundings of their stores make a great difference to their customers. They know that an attractive display in the windows or in the store impresses not only the woman who intends to buy, but the prospective buyer, From time to time they add new appointments until today

Resignation of Suffrage Chief in Milwaukee. Causes Considerable

Excitement. Members of the Rock County Poli-tical Equality League will be interested in the following article copied from a Milwaukee paper on the situation in the Cream City suffrage circles: Miss Gwendolyn Willis, daughter of the Rev. Olympia Brown, a professor in Milwaukee-Downer college and formerly treasurer of the Wisconsin Wo-man Suffrage association, resigned her position as president of the Milwaukee branch of the Wisconsin Woman set by the payment of the personal property tax. The delinquent income This is the most recent outcome of he strained relations which existed between the W. W. S. A. and the political Equality league in the recent campaign, and which resulted in the resignation of Miss Lutie E. Stearns as president of the W. W. S. A. within a month.

The amalgamation of the W. W. S. A, and the P. E. L. was accomplished Madison last month after the W. W. S. A. conceded to the Political Equality league that the Rev. Olympia Brown who had acted as president of the W. W. S. A. for thirty years be removed. At the same time the removal of the treasurer, Miss Willis, was demanded and accoded to. While the W. W. S. A. in convention last November, refused at first to allow Mrs. Brown and Miss Willis to resign. the resignations were accepted after Mrs. Brown herself argued the act as one of expediency and in the interest of harmony vho was exceedingly popular with both factions, was made president of the association. Later, when she found that the P. E. L. demanded that the W. W. S. A. give up its state char-ter and the W. W. S. A. refused to do so, Miss Stearns resigned giving as a reason that she felt the possibility of reason that she felt the possibility of amaigamation between the two forces was destroyed.

Miss Zona Gale of Portage, then took the presidency through virtue of her office as vice-president and after a conference with Miss Ada C. James, Richland Center, president of the P. E. L. a joint convention of both so-cieties was called in Madison in January and the amalgamation perfected. Since that time all has—supposedly been harmonious in the state. Mrs. H. M. Mrs. Benedict has gone to Washington, and it is said intends sailing for Europe within two months.

Miss Willis was serving her second term as president of the Milwaukee branch of the W. W. S. A. when she resigned. She gave as her reason that she thought it probable—that some members of the branch who were for-merly members of the Milwaukee branch of the P. E. L. would prefer to elect a new president. Mrs. H.M. the branch, is now acting president.
Miss Willis has a large following in the city among the suffragists, and was a member of the co-operative committee which was appointed to advise with both the P. E. L. and the W. W. S. CITY MAY BE GAINER THROUGH INCOME TAX

Collections Not Completed But Present Indications Are That Rev-

All who are delinquent in the payment. The idea was originated after the exposition. of taxes on personal property have been notified by City Treasurer Muenchow. As the result of the reasessment many people are taxed for personal property—this year who in ormer years paid none. Consequent-y many people did not know that a tax was levied against them and this accounts for a measure of the delinquincies. The city is prepared to bring suit for the collection of untax payments made after January 31.

BRICK TO CHICAGO BY PARCELS POST

Freese Brothers of This City Send Brick to be Used in Building House at Coliseum,

One brick weighing eight pounds was the heavy package sent by parcel post through the local post-office this morning by Freese Brothers of the Janesville Brick Works, to Chick where it will be used in building brick house at the Coliseum during the Clay Products Exposition which is to be held Feb. 26 to March 8, 1 cost thirty-six cents to send the brick from this station, Chicago being in the second zone. Twenty-five thousand other bricks, sent from as many dif ferent plants in the United States will be received by parcels post to be used

The idea was originated to test the merits of the parcel post system and is certainly a novel one. A record will be kept of each brick from the time the brick is mailed until it is delivered in Chicago in order to see how speedily Uncle Sam can deliver a brick house by mail.

It is probable that Uncle Sam's mail carriers in Chicago will not be overly enthusiastic for this method of die bring suit for the collection of un-livery of a brick house. WANTS TO QUIT BUT THEY WON'T LET HIM

Along about this time of the year every fourth year a strange cry is heard in the state department at Washington. It is the cry of Alvey Augustus Adee, second assistant secretary of state, demanding to be relieved of further public service. It is a discordant note in the general clamor of the job-hungry.

This year Adee is out with a statement in which he says he is going to retire to private life on March 4. But those who know how the wheels go round in the state Cepartment say that Adec won't guit. He won't be permitted to. This old man is tired and siek of departmental routine and longs for freedom for the rest of his days, but those who are coming to take charge of the department after March 4 will argue and cajole and persuade until he consents to stay a while longer. Along about this time of the year

There may be modifications and combinations of these systems, but any attempt to modify or combine them results in a Freak, a Mongrel, which magnifies the evils and dwarfs the virtues of the systems combined.

How the Systems Work

Under the competitive system middlemen are necessary because they are a part of the system.

Private monopolies do without the middlemen when they choose, and the consumers are at the mercy of the monopolists.

State Socialism would be the worst of all forms of monopoly, for under that system the Government would be Master and the people-Slaves. If we are to preserve our individual freedom, we must stand by the system that employs the middleman as its distributing agent-the com-

THE HARVEST OF THE ENGINEERS.

The great dam across the Nile at Assonan, together with other en gineering works of like nature which have been carried to completion by the British government in Egypt, or under its auspices, have cost about $53,000,000. It is a vast sum, measured by the earning power of the peo-A million dollars in Egypt means the wages of several times as many men, for a given period as would be required to pile up that amount in the United States. But look at the other side. The value of the land in the provinces affected by these works has risen from $955,000,000 to $2.400,000,000. The an nual rent has been increased from $82,000,000 to $190,000.000, and the advance is still going on. The full effect of the improvements in the water supply of the country, for irrigation has not yet been experienced. But who gets all this money?'

That is the question which cynics and preachers of discontent fall back upon when the miracles of modern science and industry are praised. They intimate that the poor are left poorer than ever and that all of the gains go to the rich and well-to-do.

In Egypt the answer is found in the common people and in their obvious and marked gains in comfort and security from the exactions of the tax gatherer and the landlord. There is much less difficulty than of old in colants are better fed, better housed and livestock they need. Not that there has been a sudden and complete revo lution in their condition.

On the contrary, much that they do is still done as it was in the time of the Pharaohs. Egypt is not yet "spoiled" from the point of view of the tourist and the seeker for local color and picturesque life. But the changes are upward and the gains are apparent to all who knew the Nile a quarter century or a decade ago.

There are many wonder-workers is these days, but the chief of them all are the men who make the forces of nature their servants and turn science into the slave of genius and a tireless toiler for mankind. The debt of the age to the engineers will never be fully measured or adequately per-

END OF MADERO.

Madero swept into power in Mexico by a revolution and has been swept out of power by a similar uprising. Not only has he been deposed from office, but he is a prisoner in the hands of his enemies, betrayed by his erst while friends. Whether his downfall will bring peace to the troubled republic remains to be seen. It is doubtful at present as the petty jealousies of the various rebel leaders is liable to bring about a second com bination. Already rumors are heard that: Gomez will lead one revolutionary party, opposed to the Huerta-Diaz combination, and will be joined by other rebel malcontents who will continue the fighting. Really, the whole situation is becoming one which needs a good, strong hand to control, and while the time has not yet come for American interference, it may at almost any time.

WILSON OR BRYAN?

The question the democrats of this nation are confronted with is whether William Jennings Bryan or Woodrow Wilson, will be the real president ofter March 4th. Bryan remains silent on the subject, as does Wilson, but it is safe to say that they have agreed between themselves just what to do when the time comes for action. If Bryan controls, it will mean a troublesome time for Wilson; if Wilson controls, it will also mean a troublesome ime, as the Bryan element of the lemocratic party and the anti-Bryan element can never agree, and the president, who owes his nomination to the Commoner, will be in a particularly embarrassing position

PRESIDENT SUSTAINED.

Sober second thought of the house of representatives in Washington, Wednesday, resulted in sustaining the veto of President Taft, on the immigration bill. The senate had taken occasion to pass the measure over his veto but the representatives, by a narfow margin, saved the nation from the disgrace of the requirements of the measure. There are decided un-American provisions in the law pronosed and the illiteracy test is one which can be lost sight of. President which can be lost sight of. President girl may remember an angel in Alice Taft did right in vetoing the measure blue, but still look like Helen pink and congress made the job certain by sustaming his veto

THE BALKANS.

The Balkan situation has been fost sight of in the troublesome days of turned a verdict of "guilty." the Mexican revolution. However, they are still fighting over there and the war is by no means decided as yet. The allies mean to enforce their demands at the point of the bayonet and the Turks are hoping against hope that something will happen that will waken the Powers to action and help them out of their bad position. However it appears as though the 'Sick Man of the East" is at present without triends in the courts of Europe and must fight his battles out

It has been discovered by a university professor that the ancient kings of Egypt often drank as many as 100 jars of beer in a day. Perhaps this accounts for the pictures that are engraved on their tombs.

Apparently the efforts of the Washington correspondents have gone for ferent directions nothing. An advertisement in one of the newspapers of that city reads: "Wanted—A cabinet maker."

Perhaps it has been noticed that the resumption of cordial relations beswift growth of the savings of the tween Japan and Russia followed closely on the heels of that big loan China has made.

Beads Like Amber.

Beads which look rather like cloud-ed amber, but which have the quality of wood, are picked from the Chinese jinko fern; they are pierced and strung for necklaces or long chains; they are said to obtain a natural polish like ivery with a little wear, says a New York Times writer. They are fairly light in weight and cost so much per bead, so that the string is priced acording to length.

Spain Slow to Change. In Spain, for the most part, washing is done in the old fashioned way, with cold water in large earthen tubs, generally in little wash houses on the flat Oriental roofs. Local custom is exceedingly hard to change, and the cheanness of labor obviates the use of modern machinery and time and labor saving devices.

At every session of the legislature the question of removing the state fair from Milwaukee to some other city is brought up. Usually the bill proposing such a change is killed in the committee room, but this session it will go onto the floor of the house for debate. In the discussion yesterday. Assemblyman Carpenter, who introduced the measure, made the state ment that if the fair was removed

CELLAR PIPE ADDED TO FIRE APPARATUS

Satisfactory Test of Tool Given in Presence of Mayor Fathers This Morning-Valuable Addition.

Janesville's fire fighting equipment has been increased by the addition of a cellar-pipe which arrived this mornng and was given a satisfactory test a light luncheon was served.

The B. G. Girls and their friends were entertained at the home of Miss Klein and other interested observers.

Isabell Murphy on Galena street last the fire Department H. C. We're entertained at the nome of Miss Klein and other interested observers. Isabell Murphy on Galena street last this tool, constructed entirely of bronze and weighing but a few pounds, consists of but two parts, a whirling nozzle operated by water pressure and throwing nine five-eighths inch streams in as many di-rections in as many different angles, and its support which is screwed onto a standard hose coupling. The nozzle turns on ball bearings so that it will run at high speed on a moderate wa ter pressure.

Hot Water a Curative Agent.

The action of hot water on the body s the simplest and most effective curative agent we have. Pain due to neuritis, sciatica, rheumatism or indury are relieved and the first stages of a cold are so greatly relieved that the cold will not progress further. Such a bath is in no way similar to the Turkish bath. A cold bath need not be taken after a hot bath and people living in the temperate zone will be greatly benefited by a really hot bath every other day.

Today.

Today is your day and mine, the only day we have, the day in which we play our part. What our part may signify in the great whole, we may not understand; but this we knowit is a part of action, not of whining; of love; not of synicism. It is for us to express love in terms of human helpfulness.—David Starr Jordan.

The New "Double Service" House Dresses for Spring are Here

So cleverly constructed are these "Double Service" dresses that they do duty as apron and dress. They are the most practical and useful house dress ever designed. They appeal to every woman who appreciates neatness and attractiveness in their house dresses. For besides the very unique features of the "double service" dresses, they are at the same time most practical. The illustration gives some idea of how they are made. No buttons to fasten, no inconvenient hooks and eyes. They're slipped on and adjusted in a jiffy by a belt around the waist which snaps in the back with patent fasteners. COSTS NO MORE than ordinary house dresses, but cheaper in the end because of their double service features. The New Spring "Double Service" Dresses are just unpacked. The materials are neat percales in checks and stripes. Made with both high and low neck. Priced at $1.25, $1.50 and $2.50

WHAT EMPHASIS CAN DO.

HAT wonderful things infection and emphasis arc. What a tremendous difference they make in the meaning of language. With one emphasis, a certain set of words may mean one thing; with another, something entirely different. Account and inflection are to language what expression is to the human face.

They are the color pigments with which we, the artists, shade and tint

Take for instance, this epigram of the mental scientist, "We are not what we think we are." but we think, we are." How completely the slight emphasis on the word think and the tiny pause after it change the meaning of the five

> Here's another example. Say you have made a Here's another example. Say you have made a choice between two articles, two waists, or two parasoluter, one cup granulated sugar, sold on what not. Later you must choose between another set of articles, and you say to some one. "I hope I'll make the right choice this time." Now you can say these words with two different inflections, and convey two absolutely different meanings. One will cup of sweet milk in which previous, starch and sugar to some occasionally, can do no harm. But here is where the danger often lies. Nothing could be more cup of sweet milk in which previous, starch and sugar it contains. But here is where the danger often lies. Nothing could be more story two absolutely different meanings. One will be disposed to the sugar that it is a bowl about three cups flour. half cup, subtract lines and no stops for lunch con. Chocolate is convenient, nutri-pluch of salt and a little less than able quantities occasionally, can do no harm. But here is where the danger often lies. Nothing could be more cups flour, half cup. make it evident that you think you made the wrong choice before and hope you will do better this time, soda. Add the other inflection will convey the meaning that you handle well. chose right before and hope you will again, and yet you are using exactly the same nine words.

Try it for yourself. Say them with the one idea in your head, and then with the other, and see how slight a change of emphasis and inflection you make, and yet how plainly different your meanings are.

And now I can feel my practical minded reader inquiring what I'm driving at, what the point and the moral of all this is. Need there he any? Isn't it just an interesting subject, worth sending a train of thought into?

But if there must be a result I think I are find one very early. Thus, in

But if there must be a moral, I think I can find one very easily. Two, in fact. In the first place, since you have seen how easily accent and emphasis, the expressions of language can change the meaning of any set of words, always have this in mind when dealing with the written word. Remember that what any set of written words appears to convey may differ just as much from what it is intended to convey, and would convey it's spoken with the proper accent and inflection, as an imperfect photograph differs from your friend's face when it is lighted up with love and animation. I believe that more quarrels and misunderstandings, especially among lovers, are caused by attempting to keep up the intimacy by letter, than in any other way. "Not long ago," says Stevenson, "I wrote a letter to a friend which came near inof what I had written and added worse to that, and with the commentary of the body, it seemed not unfriendly either to hear or to say."

And the other moral is similar to the first. Since you realize the changing meanings of any set of words, do not ever let the tale bearers set you against your friend with the tale of what your friend said against you. Always find out, not only if he said it, but how he said it,

The Negative Woman

HE'S one of the incompetent sort of people who always get the wrong article or do the wrong thing," a woman at the club was saying. "You know that kind, don't you?"

"Indeed I do," responded her listener briskly. "My landlady is that sort. I simply sit in wonder and amaze, as the hymn says, to see how she does every thing the wrong way, or always buys the wrong sort of thing. When she puts down a carpet or olicioth, and a piece has to overlap, she always lays it so that it overlaps the wrong way; that is, when you sweep, you sweep all the dust and dirt into the crack. The part that should be on top, she'll have underneath, so that the edge faces the wrong way for sweeping. I She buys the most uncomfortable chairs. There isn't a chair in the house that doesn't give you a pain to sit on. She showed me, with great glee, the other day, a new dust-pan she'd bought. It had a long handle, ,so you would not have to stoop over; that was all right. But just when you had your dust-pan full, this handle had a fashion of getting some kind of a kink, and spilling the dirt all over tho floor. She said quite sorrowfully that when she bought it, she had never noticed that habit."

"That's her trouble," said the other woman. "She doesn't think." "You are quite right. She is one of your incompetent ineffective kind of people, who never really use their brains. She does her work in a sort of apathetic way. There is nothing positive or forceful about her. I call ber negative, and so all the misfits drift her way." "I knew a woman like that," said the other. "Everything she hought was always imperfect. She hated to shop, and so she'd rush into the stores and get what she wanted as quickly as she could, and never examine it much. And it was really true that everything she bought was imperfect in some way. And I don't think the salespeople put those things off on her purposely. Imperfections seemed to be attracted to her."

The other nodded her head. "I think there is something to it. you are in a negative, unforceful condition, you attract the failures. Anyway I wish my landlady would inject some positivism into her make-up. For I suffer by her ineffective working and buying as much as she does."

For the Kiddies.

I make individual laundry bags for my children, and make each child responsible in a measure for his or her soilen linen. I find this a simple but and orderly, and to keep everything in its place. Besides, this does much toward helping Mother on washday, when she is often at her "wit's end" looking for lost articles.

These bags need cost nothing, simply made of flour bags. The children will enjoy making them.

I make little sacks, I have material for on kerchiefs, and about 40 cents on flour (a big return in dollars and cents. I think).

I MADE A SERVICEABLE little play dress for my two-year-old girl, using a man's shirt, which was worn around the front of the collar band. A child's kimono dress pattern was used to cut the dress. The front of the shirt was used for the back of the dress. The neck and sleeves were trimmed with bands of embroidery. Bias bands of material will answer bags: a one-eighth barrel sack will cut, four, I find the material to be just as good as that in the 5-cent handkerchiefs.

"Be more careful what you leat, how and when, and there will less dyspepsia and fewer bald heads," says the "Family Doctor." Nature is very careful to supply the vital organs with the necessary nourishment, and when there is a deficiency, the supply is first drawn from the least vital parts. Loss of hair is due largely to wearing a tight hat which cuts off the supply of nutrition by constricting the blood vessels, and through polsoning by the retention of the perspira tion in improperly ventilated hats. A hat should never be worn indoors not in a railroad carriage and the increasing practice among women of discarding the hat outdoors in the evening is to be commended to men.

FOR THE COMING SEASON With the coming of the racing season the "Speed Demons" are preparing for the numerous contests to be held. The big event of motor racing will be held at Indianapolis on Me-morial day. This race is by far the nost sensational of all motor events. The drivers race over a two and a half mile brick pavement with banked turns for a distance of five hundred miles. Numerous drivers have de-clared their intentions to enter this race and try for the $35,000 sweep-stakes. Ray Harroun, winner in 1911, and Joe Dawson, winner in 1912, will be among the classic pilots to enter. "Terrible Teddy" Tetzlaff, California's favorite and holder of the world's record of 78.8 miles per hour, will en-deaver to win with his Fiat. SIDEWALK

THE SHAMPOO.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

The shampoo is a form of delirious delsarte practiced by barbers who believe in getting at the root of things. It is intended to loosen the dandruff on a man's head so that it can climb out on his collar two days later.

It is an exciting moment in a man's life when he is shampooed by a barber who is experimenting with a new dandruff cure. The barber first runs a towel down the to the control of the pipe and ties it in a double bow-knot. He then crowds in two or three more towels and a rubber dam, by which time the patient is able to upon a lodge member who never was troubled either with dandruff or hair fierward. He then nours some of ie extract upon the victim's head, a lowing most of it to escape into left ear and trickle down under his chin, after which he soizes the scalp with both hands and tries to see if it will come off. After working about ient's eyes, he leads him up blindly It is thought now that his recovery will be rapid.

The incipient cases are cared for at the Milwaukee city sanitorium at Blue Mounds. Yet the cost per week per patient at the Milwaukee sanitorium has not at any time exceeded $8.16.

There has been no garden, chickens or cows to help in reducing the cost of maintenance. In New York state several county institutions maintain sum of $20,000.00 be and is hereby approximately approximately

We estimate that 16 patients could be maintained for each year in this county at a cost of not to exceed $3,009.00 net to the county.

In case it is determined to build a county sanitorium the committee would recomend an administration building with dimensions about 23 ft. x 70 ft, amply large to provide for fu-ture growth of the institution. To this should be attached an infirmary wing about 90 feet in length providing separate rooms for 16 patients and adequate sun and air exposure parlors or

CHAPTER XI.

The Home Port.

The darkness of the night slowly lifted, revealing only a gray, leaden sky. There was no dawn such as had gladdened their hearts the morning before, no fresh awakening of the day. Instead, the coldness and gloom of the night seemed but to creep a little farther away, leaving its shadow over the world. A drizzling rain began to fall. and the wanderers on the beach were destined to a new draft of misery. Only Agatha watched, however; James gave no sign of caring, or even of knowing, whether the sun shone or hid its face.

He had slept fitfully since their hour. of wakefulness together in the night, and several times he had shown signs of extreme restlessness. At these periods he would talk incoherently, Agatha being able to catch only a word now and then. Once he endeavored to get up, bent, apparently, upon performing some fancied duty far away. Agatha soothed him, talked to him as a mother talks to a sick child. cajoled and commanded him; and yet he obeyed her readily enough.

As the rain began to descend, Agatha bethought herself earnestly as to there?" what could be done. She first persuaded James to drink a little more of the milk, and afterward took what was left herself—less than half a cupful. and strong. "All right!" came back; Then she set the bucket out to catch and then, "Call again! We can't find the rain. She felt keenly the need of you!" And so she called again and feed and water; and now that there was no one to heed her movements, eyes and a lump in her threat for she found it difficult to keep up the very relief and joy. When her eyes show of courage. She still trusted in cleared, she saw the boat, and watched Hand; but even at best he might yet while it anchored well of the rocks; be several hours in returning; and then two men put ashore in a rowcold and hunger can reduce even the boat.

She coaxed James to his feet and helped him, with some difficulty, up to the more sheltered spot. He was stronger, physically, now in his delirium than he had been during his period was returning, and had to drop her | She had, in the end, been quite unher.

They were near the bayberry bush, though entirely out from its protection. As the drizzling rain, settled down thicker and thicker about them, Agatha tried again. Slowly she coaxed James to his knees, and slowly she helped him creep, as she had crept toward him in the night, along the stones and up into the sheltered corner under the bayberry. It was only a little better than the open, and it had taken such prodigies of strength to get there!

Agatha made a pillow for James' head and sat by him, looking earnestly at his flushed face; and from her heart she sighed, "Ah, dear man, it was too hard! It was too hard!"

It was a long and weary wait for help, though help of a most efficient kind was on the way. Agatha had been looking and listening toward the upper wood, whither Hand had disappeared. She had even called, from time to time, on the chance that she could help to guide the assisting party back to the cove. At last, as she listened for a reply to her call, she heard another sound that set her wondering: it was the p-p-peter-peter of a motor boat. She loooked out over the small expanse of ocean that was visible to her, but could see nothing. Nevertheless the boat was approaching, as though he was restless and voluble, and more distinct, and presently a strong voice shouted "Ahoy! Are you

"This way, sir. I think mademoiselle has moved the camp up under the trees," was the reply, unmistakably the voice of Mr. Hand.

And there they found Agatha, kneeling by James and trying to coax him to his feet. "Quick, they have come! You will be cared for now, you will be well again!" she was saying. She saw Hand approach and heard him say: This way, Doctor Thayer. The gentleman is up here under the trees," and then, for the first time in all the long ordeal, Agatha's nerves broke and her throat filled with sobs. As the exchauffeur came near, she reached a hand up to him, while with the other she covered her weeping eyes in shame.

It was the heart load, take her patient by the arm, and able to help; but the immediate need of youth, plus the endurance of the guide him back to the new shelter, for her help was past. Doctor Thayer, man, that had saved them both. It lie went peacefully enough, but coming with his satchel of medicines, had been a call to action, dauntlessiy leaned on her more and more heavily, had at first given his whole attention until at last his knees weakened under to James, examining him quickly and that the struggle, the effort, even the him and he fell. Agatha's heart smote skilfully as he lay where Agatha had left him. Later he came to Agatha with a few questions, which she answered clearly; but James, left alone. immediately showed such a tendency to wander around, following the hallucinations of his brain, that the doctor decided that he must have a sedative before he could be taken away. The needle, that friend of man in pain, was: brought into use; and presently they, were able to leave the cove. Doctor Thayer and Mr. Hand carried James to the rowboat, and the engineer, who had stayed in the launch, helped them lift him into the larger boat. "No more walking at present for this man!" said the doctor.

They were puffing briskly over the vater, with the tiny rowboat from the Jeanne D'Arc and the boat belonging to the launch cutting a long broken furrow behind them. Mr. Hand was minding the engine, while the engineer and owner of the launch, Little Simon -so-called probably because he was big-stood forward, handling the wheel. Jim was lying on some blankets and oilskins on the floor of the boat, the doctor sitting beside him on. a crackerbox. Agatha, feeling useless and powerless to help, sat on the narrow, uncomfortable seat at the side, watching the movements of the docter. She was unable to tell whether doubt or hope prevailed in his rugged countenance.

At last she ventured her question: but before replying Doctor Thayer looked up at her keenly, as if to judge how much of the truth she would be able to bear.

"The hemorrhage was caused by the strain," he said at last, slowly. "It is bad enough, with this fever. If his constitution is sound, he may pull through."

Not very encouraging, but Agatha extracted the best from it. "Oh, I'm so thankful!" she exclaimed. Doctor Thayer looked at her, a deep interest showing in his grim old face. While she looked at James, he studied her, as it some unusual characteristic claimed his attention, but he made no comment.

Doctor Thayer was short in stature, massively built, with the head and trunk of some ancient Vulcan. His heavy, large features had a rugged nobility, like that of the mountains. His face was smooth-shaven, ruddy-brown, and deeply marked with lines of care; but most salient of all his features was the massively molded chin and jaw. His lips, too, were thick and full, without giving the least impression of grossness; and when he was thinking, he had a habit of thrusting ever felt. Thin white hair covered his temples and grew in a straggling fringe around the back of his head, upon which he wore a broad-brimmed soft black hat.

Doctor Thayer would have been noticeable, a man of distinction, anywhere; and yet here he was, with his worn satchel and his old-fashioned clothes, traveling year after year over the country-side to the relief of farmers and fishermen. He knew his science, too. It never occurred to him to doubt whether his sphere was arge enough for him (To be continued.)

St. Louis, Mo., July 20, 1912,- We noticed small lumps breaking out on my oldest boy's legs. They started to spread, and then sores broke out all over his face. The sufferings were terrible. One of the remedies we used was _____, which is _____, which is _____, widely advertised for eczema, but this britated the sores so badly that the child couldn't stand the pain. Finally our physician recommended Resinol Ountment. which immediately cooled and gave the child relief. So I got a cake of Resinol Soap and used it for his bath, and in a week's time him. week's time his skin was clear and all of the sores were healed." (Signed) Mrs. F. W. Turner, 1033a S. 8th St.

AN OLD REMEDY

Beet, Iron and Wine is one of the cood old remedies that has outlived score of patent tonics, reasonable in price, a satisfactory tonic, appetizer and mild stimulant. There is nothing better for that tired, worried, listless feeling or run-down condition of the system after illness of any kind. It tones the whole system, stimulates digestion, gives you appetite, is a good iron tonic for weak, pale children or old people, far more effective than malt extracts or so-called wine of cod liver oil that depend upon their stim-ulants alone. Beef, Iron and Wine tones and sustains, it assists nature to recuperate, it's a food to the sick and nursing mothers.

Mr. Pfennig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, prepares our Beet, Iron and Wine. It's always fresh, made from the very best extract of beet, wholesome, properly aged sherry production of high class work in-

The number of letters sent to the common occurrence for postmasters dead letter office from the Janesville and their clerks to discover written postoffice alone, would surprise our upon the envelopes containing letters methodical business man who always passing through the mails this legend: do everything by a system and consethe Bank of England has had military "If not called for in ten days return protection. The military watch is set to the writer." Morely that and every night. At five o'clock it marches with bayonets fixed from the head-and as nine out of ten of Grant's ap-liast night and has left the scene of her and as nine out of ten of Grants appointees do not possess sufficient sagatified to detect the names and resident to detect the names and resident writers of these enignility. It is the individual who is taking the writers of these enignility is the individual who is taking the rearrance of the writers of these enignility. dences of the writers of these enig-lit, is the individual who is the dences of the writers of these enig-matical propositions, it occurs that Lizzie away. For nearly five years she has been in the Gazette office and she has been in the Gazette office and though we are sorry to lose her skilled matical propositions, it occurs that believely few of such requests are complied with. The postmaster of this city showed us a letter of that sort labors, we cannot help but wish her a written across one end, and he says happy future. The entire establishmany such letters pass through his ment is under obligations for a liberal many such letters pass through his supply of cake. Such is Miss Colling's glected to put a stamp upon the en-mony, velope, and it will be sent to the dead A regular meeting of the Common letter office unless our postal force Council tonight.

Raised a howl 'cause his bills were so hye.
To a barber he went,
To this speech giving vent: "It costs more to live than to die!"
